

March 30, 2010

To whom this may concern,

I am writing to you with regards to the series you are running on my religion, its ecclesiastical leader and the place I call home, Golden Era Productions. It would be expected that any respectable reporter would have come to see, for himself, the subject, people or place that he is reporting on.

Whereas I have definitely seen no such visit, I can only be assured that you have taken it upon yourselves to form a biased view, based on slanted opinions from dissident voices that have proven their intent to be malicious towards Golden Era Productions and Scientology for reasons only they could explain. For, if anyone were to actually look at Golden Era himself, he would soon find these people to be outright liars.

Since this program concerns my fellow associates, my friends, my place of work and my religion, I strongly feel it my right to inform you that you are making a grave error and to see that this is corrected by truthful information.

I have been a member of the Sea Organization and Golden Era Productions for over 25 years. In this time I have enjoyed working with a highly creative group of professionals that all share a common goal in producing audio visual products for the Church of Scientology that help to create a better world for us all. This is not some lofty statement or idealistic dream.

Our productions have helped people get off drugs, bring families back together and prevent kids from getting into drugs in the first place. Our products have helped kids and adults alike achieve happier more productive lives through becoming more literate and able to actually study for the first time. We have brought morals to crime-ridden areas and actually reduced the crime rate and have even prevented war. Our Volunteer Ministers use our products on a daily basis to help those in need, be it disasters such as Haiti, New York after 911, Katrina or simply the person next door.

Now I ask you, what kind of person could not get behind that? And what could be possibly wrong with engaging in such an activity? Especially in a beautiful environment, with production facilities that are second to none and a service staff that really takes the care to see that you are well fed and lodged with no distractions to your work. Such a place could be called paradise. We call it Golden Era Productions.

Further I understand that you intend to in some way slander the leader of my church Mr. David Miscavige. Listen, I have known this man as a personal friend for over 20 years, so I feel that am fully authorized to speak on his behalf. I know of no one and I mean no one that is as hard working or focused about his work and supportive of the people that work for him than he is.

Even as busy as he is, he'll find the time to help you personally increase your competence and professionalism. I work in a very demanding field of photography and owe in no small measure where I am now to the help Mr. Miscavige has rendered to me personally. That is the kind of person that he is. If you were to meet him, you would see this clearly for yourself.

The fact that you would listen to sources that would attempt to slander such a man, I find sickening. Have you in your "objective reporting" looked into their lives and seen what they are up to? It might not be suitable for General Audience rating, or R for that matter.

You right now you are standing at a crossroads. One road leads down a path of ethical reporting with integrity and other leads towards you completely discrediting yourselves as a news network. I don't think anyone will ever again believe a word you say down that road. Don't make that mistake.

Sincerely,

Jeff Baker